Marion Davies in "The Burden of Proof," Friday; Billie Burke in "In Pursuit of Polly," Saturday; Viola Dana in "The Flower of Dusk," and the comedy, "She Loved Him Plenty."

AVENUE GRAND.
Mae Marsh's latest starring vehicle, "Money Mad," will be the attraction at Crandall's Avenue Grand today. It is the story of a girl whose happiness is threatened by the knowledge that her father is under the mysterious influence of a Hindu fakir and is also preyed upon by a beautiful woman of doubtful reputation.

SAVOY.
Billie Burke will appear in "In Pursuit of Polly," at Crandall's Savoy today and tomorrow.

POLY.
Frank Gates' "Pom Pom Girls" is the attraction at the Poly Theater this week. The cast includes Ruby Garrison, leading woman; Loretta Gail, soprano; four dancing artists, and F. S. Gates, principal comedian; followed by Irving Hampton and Tom Greeley. There is a chorus of twenty.

CASINO.
"The Fascinating Beauties," heralded as one of burlesque's liveliest aggregations, is announced as the attraction at the Casino Theater this week, beginning with a matinee today at 3 o'clock, and continuing twice daily throughout the week.

APOLLO.
William S. Hart in "Riddle Gawn" will be shown at Crandall's Apollo today and tomorrow. He portrays the role of a man who has dedicated his life to the pursuit and capture of the bandit who killed his brother and left the latter's young daughter on his hands as a charge.

Other attractions for the current week are: Tuesday, Dorothy Dalton in "Green Eyes"; Wednesday, Mae Marsh in "Money Mad"; Thursday,

You can't blame him for making love to Marion Davies in "The Burden of Proof," at Crandall's Theater.

CRITERION.
Gladys Brockwell will be seen at the Criterion Theater next week, beginning Sunday, September 23, in "Kultur," a drama based on the Teuton intrigues that brought on the world war. The picture abounds in the fascinating workings of underground diplomacy and is interwoven with an absorbing romance of love.

NATIONAL.
When John Cort brings "Flo-Flo" to the National Theater, on Monday, September 23, theatergoers will have the opportunity of seeing what is claimed to be the only comedy chorus in existence. "Flo-Flo" is the breezy melody of lyrical songs and pretty girls which kept the Cort Theater in New York crowded for months.

COLUMBIA.
William S. Hart will be seen at Loew's Columbia next Sunday and for the first half of the week in a new play, "Border Wireless."

GAYETY.
"Without Rhyme or Reason" is the title of the two-act burlesque that will be presented by the fourth edition of "The Maids of America" at the Gayety Theater next week. At intervals throughout the performance, specialties are introduced as consistent parts of the story. Among the principal members of the company are Al K. Hall, Bobby Barry, Florence Rother, George E. Snyder, Jane May, Mae Stanley, Gus Stevenson, D. Melver Charles Smith and the Liberty Trio. There is a large chorus.

RELAISO.
Nora Bayes will make her first local appearance as a musical comedy star at the Relais Theater next week in "Look Who's Here."

B. F. KEITH'S.
Next week at B. F. Keith's Theater the Liberty bond loan drive will be inaugurated with an extraordinary bill headed by Joseph E. Howard's elaborate musical novelty, "The Song Bird Revue," with Ethlyn Clark and forty players. Van and Schenck, "the pennant winning battery of songland" are also listed. Others, and all calculated to stir up public interest in the bond drive, will be Kate Ellmore and Sam Williams in "A Reel of Real Fun," Leo Rees; Stan Stanley and the Stanleys; the Camp Meigs Military Band of sixty pieces in a patriotic ensemble, and more of the cleverest mirthmakers in vaudeville.

POLY.
"The Kiss Burglar," with a clever company of farceurs, is one of the coming attractions at Poli's Theater. The long run of the piece in New York during the spring and summer just passed has advertised the merits of the performance very extensively. Edith Tallaferra and Walter Castlett head the list of names in the cast and there are several other well known actors and singers in the company.

Mae Marsh certainly looks mad in "Money Mad," at the Apollo and Avenue Grand Theaters.
